

Keeping the Rail Network on Track

Customer

Network Rail is the government-created owner and operator of most of the rail infrastructure in Great Britain (England, Scotland and Wales).

Requirement

Acquire Digital was given just three weeks to create the perfect solution for Network Rail. Tasked with creating an information point which would showcase current and planned workload for the whole of the UK to the company's board members, staff and visitors, Acquire enlisted the help of the Working Solutions design studio to collate client content before identifying and developing the best way to present technical information to an 'every day' kiosk audience.

Solution

Once the idea had been developed and agreed with Network Rail, Working Solutions set to work on standardising the information, and building the solution using the Acquire Editor Suite of software and a 40-inch LCD, touch-screen, information kiosk from Protouch.

Working solutions designed an easy to use graphical user interface (GUI) that allowed Network Rail staff and visitors alike to see planned, existing and budgeted development work throughout the rail network in the UK. They were able to study the scale and location of the works at a glance, and could touch any point to access detailed information which could be regularly changed by the client, by updating a database via a custom built content management system (CMS).

The information was stored in a central database which was accessed via the Acquire software and its specially developed custom plug-in. Working Solutions developed the OLE DB database plug-in specifically for this job, after which it joined the dozens of other extended feature applications available from Acquire.
